

«Drinking water» Silberhornhütte

In the meltwater ditches below the Rotbrätt, meltwater can be fetched with the water bran. Which ditch is best for this depends on the season and the snowmelt. Normally the second ditch on a rock step is the best. Later in the season one of the further ditches may have more water. More water runs in the afternoon than in the morning, especially when the temperatures are colder.

It is better to boil the water before drinking.

